RICHARD PURDY BADLY INJURED IN BRATTLEBORO

Motorcycle Went Through Iron
Fence Into Deep Ravine

UNDERWENT OPERATION

Victim of Accident Suffered No Broken
Bones but Surgery Necessary for Internal Injuries.

Richard Purdy, 30, is in the hospital at Brattleboro undergoing treatment for injuries received in a motorcycle accident some time Monday afternoon. Late Monday evening the young man underwent an operation from which he is reported to have rallied satisfactorily.

Definite particulars of the accident are not known here. The victim of the accident, who is employed by Dexter M. Gleason, a Woodford lumberman, left Woodford early in the afternoon for Brattleboro. According to reports received here, the motorcycle went through an iron fence guarding a small ravine through which ran a small stream. There were not witnesses to the accident but Purdy was found still conscious lying beside the brook shortly after 3 o'clock.

Hurried to the hospital, the young man was found to have come through the accident without broken bones but there were internal injuries which necessitated an operation to save his life.

Purdy is a native of Boston but had had his home since he was a small child with Andrew and Sophia Maurer of this village. Last summer he worked for Mr. Gleason and had been at work in Woodford during the present season.

Mr. Gleason was notified by telephone of the accident and with Miss Maurer hurried by automobile to Brattleboro. They were present in the hospital when the young man underwent the operation.

GOV. COOLIDGE ACTS

To Save Money
To The Public

In a special message to the Massachusetts legislature Gov. Coolidge declares interest on public utilities should be increased to attract new capital and keep down the rates for gas and electricity.

"Several of the gas and electric companies find it necessary to provide for meeting maturities or notes and bonds by financing themselves. They are unable to sell stocks and bonds on the market without paying above the present legal rate. If this be done it will no doubt result in a considerable saving to the public."

The TWIN STATE plan to sell, PRIOR LIEN STOCK, bearing a high rate of interest. Every purchaser of this security is helping his community, according to Gov. Coolidge's statement. Pays 7.36 per cent.

MRS. MARY J. BATES

Died Sunday Evening at Walloomsac
Inn, Old Bennington.

Mrs. Mary J. Bates, who had been housekeeper at the Walloomsac Inn Old Bennington, died Sunday evening at 11 o'clock. Mrs. Bates failed to make a complete recovery from an operation performed about two years ago but had been able to perform the duties of her position until recently when she contracted a severe cold. Pneumonia developed and her strength was not sufficient to carry her over the crisis.

Mrs. Bates came to Bennington about twenty years ago with Mr. Berry's sister and upon the latter's death became housekeeper at the hotel. She was extremely loyal in her obligations and many, particularly those in advanced years who have been accustomed to pass a portion of the year at the inn and who were the recipients of the unostentatious attentions so appreciated by those who have passed the meridian of life, will learn of her death with deep regret.

Mrs. Bates was a native of Wells, Hamilton county, N. Y., where the body was taken for interment.

DON'T TREAT YOUR SKIN DISEASES EXTERNALLY

Take Goldine No. 2 Internally For Only Permanent Relief For Unhealthy Skin.

Most people have the mistaken belief that skin diseases should be treated from the outside. They use lotions, ointments and other external applications and get temporary relief, perhaps, but find that the pimples, blotches, rashes, boils, eczema, irritation or whatever their trouble may be will return very soon after.

If the root of your trouble is lacking in blood, it is useless to dab with a little paint that will wash away soon and leave open the leak. Do you believe in stopping up the leak, plugging it up so you will have no trouble? Of course the latter course is the best. And the best way to treat skin troubles is to get at the source, to purify the blood, to rid the system of the poisons that cause your skin to break out.

Goldine No. 2 is composed of herbs which have the power to cleanse the system, to clear the poisons from the blood and purify it. If the blood is in good condition, it will not have to grow out the poisons through the skin, which is the cause of most skin trouble.

Stop dabbing nice smelling liquids and paints on your skin, go at it the right way. Get a bottle of Goldine No. 2, or if more convenient, a package of Goldine No. 2 tablets and take them according to the directions on the package. Then as your blood is clearing out, becoming purer, richer and healthier, you will notice your skin becoming clearer, smoother and of better color. Remember, once your blood is cleared out, it will be a long time before it accumulates that much poison again. It never will if you continue your treatment with Goldine from time to time.

Don't be ashamed of your skin. Go to W. L. Gokley's Drug Store. He has a big, fresh supply of Goldine on hand. And remember, Goldine No. 2 is the blood and skin remedy.

BARRETT URGES CONTINENT WIDE AMERICANISM

His Address Feature of Independence
Day Observance

"GET-TOGETHER" MEETING

Elaborate Program of Welfare Association
Terminates with Brilliant
Display of Fireworks

With the exception of weather uncertainty, which lasted well toward the end of the day, Bennington's Independence Day celebration was a most unqualified success.

As advance notices in the Banner have stated, the type of the celebration differed from former years, the parade and picnic being replaced in having this attractive spot in the center of town for such an event. The beautiful elms make a lovely setting and the decorations, in which, of course, the national colors were used almost exclusively, completed the effect most appropriate to the day.

At ten o'clock Hurley's orchestra of six pieces began playing, but little dancing was indulged in until after the speaking.

The leading feature of the day was the address at the Welfare association pavilion by Hon. John Barrett, director general of the Pan-American union. Because of his extensive experience in Asia and South America, Mr. Barrett could undoubtedly have given his audience much more information but he wisely fitted his address to the day and spoke more for the benefit of the young people than the grownups.

The speaker laid special stress upon the responsibility that rests upon the people of Vermont and rural New England, the section of the country that has contributed so much to the progress and well being of the nation. Problems to be solved during the next ten years, he said, were of more far-reaching importance than all that had confronted us since the declaration of independence. The menacing unrest in the great cities, a condition that threatens the actual existence of the nation, must be met and checked by the boys and girls now in the schools of Vermont and boys and girls who are living in similar environments. In closing Mr. Barrett made an eloquent appeal for a united America, a union that should influence the world through its example and safeguard the interests of the western continent for all time.

Mr. Barrett, in an easy and at the same time forceful speaker and held the close attention of his audience throughout his address. He was pleasantly introduced by Collins M. Graves.

The refreshment tables, arranged under three big elms, were loaded with good things to eat, contributed by the generosity of Bennington's housewives. The best of sandwiches, baked beans, potato salad, doughnuts, cake, ice cream and coffee were served throughout the day and every patron of the tables had warm praise for the delicious and satisfying food and the good service rendered by the ladies in charge. This department was in charge of Miss Daisy Rudd.

and the soliciting committee was headed by Miss Persis Holden. Too much cannot be said for the splendid work done by both divisions of this department, everything being planned and carried out with perfect precision and efficiency.

At two o'clock the afternoon program began with dancing on the large open platform and the excellent floor inside the hall. This feature was enjoyed to the utmost by people of all ages, who taxed the capacity of both floors all the afternoon and evening. Soon after three a series of athletic events was put on under the management of Mr. Littlestein, physical director of the Y. M. C. A.

A little later the first number of the vaudeville was shown. Kit Carson, the wonder of slack wire and sharp shoot work giving an exhibition of as fine work in this line as Bennington has ever seen. It seemed to matter little to Carson which way he held his gun, the target was shattered with equal precision whether he had his piece right end to or the reverse, whether he was in the pose of a marksman or swinging like a monkey from his trapeze with the target also in motion. The second number of the professional work was similarly satisfactory, Harry De Arma handling his balls and hats with originality and dexterity that earned well merited applause.

In the evening, these two vaudeville acts were repeated and several excellent numbers with local talent gave the audience much added pleasure. "All the boys love Mary" was an especially fetching dance given by members of the Young Woman's Club; George Small's solo was, as his singing always proves, a pleasure to everyone; and the unique and spectacular fire works drill arranged by Miss Hazel Work and done by a group of high school girls was a fitting finale to the program and leading up to the really magnificent display of pyrotechnics put on by the committee of which Henry W. Winslow was chairman and staged by Ernest and Lawrence Griswold on the east end of the grounds. So fine a display was made possible by the generosity of the manufacturers, merchants and individuals of Bennington, the soliciting being done by Willard Lighthall who rendered invaluable service in this and on the grounds committee. That the public may know who contributed so liberally to this fund the names of the donors are appended: Holden, Leonard Co., The Allen A. Co., Bennington Fruit Co., Dr. Frank Hurley, County National Bank, J. B. Harter, C. H. Dewey, A. H. Winslow, Bottom & Torrance Co., Bennington Hosiery Co., F. R. Pope, E. Z. Walist, Bennington Wax Paper Co., George Rockwood Co., Geo. M. Hawks, A. S. Payne Co., T. S. Carpenter & Son, Cooper Needle Works, W. H. Tuttle Co., H. E. Bradford Co., W. H. Willis, H. W. Myers & Son, E. L. Sibley Mfg. Co., Bennington Paper Box Factory, Olin Scott Estates, W. L. Gokley, Dr. F. S. Bailey, First National Bank, Griswold's, E. A. Booth, Frank E. Howe, Perry & Kessemann.

As for the display, it was a program of great beauty and variety. The setting at Welfare hall lends itself admirably for the purpose, the giant trees arching high overhead formed a fairy-like canopy to catch and reflect the myriad colors of the candles, rockets, fountains, "flower-pots" and the infinite variety of designs in fire. This formed a fitting climax to the pleasure and festivities of the day, completing a program of patriotic observance of which our community may well be proud.

Special mention is due to the chairman of the various committees and their assistants who worked so faithfully to make the day a success. Many of them were on duty from early in the morning until almost midnight. George M. Hawks and his assistants in charge of the preparation of the building and grounds, appeared on the scene at five a. m. And by the time the crowd began to gather had everything in readiness for their reception. Their work was supplemented by the decorating committee under the direction of Arthur Elliot. Numerous flags borrowed by Miss Martha Pratt from generous citizens were quickly and tastefully arranged by the volunteers for this work and gave Welfare hall a festive and patriotic appearance. There were so many willing hands on this and every other committee that it is impossible to mention each one by name who is really deserving of the highest praise.

The very important matter of attending to the keeping of the gates and selling of tickets was in charge of Mrs. W. L. Gokley. From until 9 Mr. Willis and the men who assisted faithfully sold tags to all who came and so willing were they to work that they wished that the crowd had been larger and made their labors even more arduous.

Each time the orchestra played and the floors were thronged with dancers, Miss Maude Belden in charge of dancing, knew that one or more of her committee were keeping watchful eyes on the pleasure and enjoyment of the Welfare guests. The very apparent happiness of the dancers bespoke the success of this part of the program and as soon as the work program is mentioned, the services of John J. Hayes must not be overlooked. In fact, Mr. Hayes' able direction of the work of the program, from the planning and execution of the activities of the day was so well done that there was not a lapse in the entertainment throughout the celebration.

In close proximity to the dance platform was the ice cream and light drinks booth in charge of a committee of young men who served most ably and willingly all day, prominent among these were Webster Temple, Gordon S. Huthall and Carl Jolivet. The thanks of the association and the public are also due to members of the Young Woman's Club who cooperated throughout the work.

Taken as a whole, the day was an unqualified success and the community has every reason to be proud of her many public spirited citizens who are working for the success of Bennington.

JAMES M. COX OF OHIO NOMINEE AT 'FRISCO ON THE 44th BALLOT

Palmer Withdrew After the 38th
Ballot and His Strength Gradually
Turned to Cox—Had a Majority on the 43d Ballot and
Two-Thirds on the 44th.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT
MAY GET SECOND PLACE

Convention Will Meet at Noon
Today, Pacific Coast Time, to Select the Candidate for Vice-President and It is Expected That Final Adjournment Will Be Reached Sometime Today.

San Francisco, July 6.—James M. Cox, three times governor of Ohio was nominated for the presidency early this morning by the Democratic national convention in the breakup of one of the most prolonged deadlocks in the history of the national political parties. It took forty-four ballots to make a choice.

It was not until the thirty-eighth ballot when Attorney General Palmer withdrew from the race that the long succession roll calls showed any definite trend.

In the turnover of Palmer delegates Cox gained an advantage over William G. McAdoo, his rival, for the first time since early in the balloting and this advantage he never lost.

With the choice made the convention adjourned to noon to name a candidate for the Vice-Presidency.

Should it be decided to give the second place on the ticket to the East, Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, assistant Secretary of the Navy, seemed the favorite but if the nomination goes west there are several possibilities talked about by the leaders.

Supporters of Cox won the way to the nomination by persistent harrying at the McAdoo and Palmer forces in many states throughout the series of sittings and rallies which left now one and then the other candidates in the lead.

Cox got a majority for the first time on the forty-third ballot. He was plunging toward the required two-thirds on the forty-fourth when the Colorado delegation changed its vote to him, making the nomination obvious. It was made unanimous on the motion of Sam B. Amidon of Kansas, leader of the McAdoo forces.

The evening session of the convention met at 8:30 and within a few minutes resumed balloting. It required a little more than a half hour for each ballot.

When the 38th ballot was completed it showed no particular change. Cox and McAdoo were neck and neck with a little less than 400 votes each. Palmer held the balance of power with about 150 votes while more than a hundred were scattered among a dozen names.

The Palmer floor manager secured recognition and the convention which had been in an uproar became instantly quiet. In behalf of Attorney General Palmer it was announced that in order to break the deadlock his name was withdrawn and that the delegates who had been voting for him were released.

Pandemonium at once broke loose as the Cox and McAdoo workers rushed for the Palmer votes. The Cox men had the best of the bout and the Ohio man forged ahead on the next ballot.

Eight years ago at Baltimore, President Wilson was nominated late Monday night on the 46th ballot.

Marion, Ohio, July 6.—Senator Harding, Republican nominee, in a statement today said that Governor Cox deserved the Democratic nomination. He added that the selection would not change Republican campaign plans in Ohio.

Dayton, Ohio, July 6.—Governor Cox declined to make a statement regarding his victory until after the notification from the convention.

He received the news in his Dayton News office surrounded by his fellow newspaper workers and a few relatives and intimate friends. His first act was to cross the room and kiss his wife.

The Chamber of Commerce is planning a huge jollification meeting probably tonight. Hundreds of telegrams of congratulations have been received.

Jersey City, July 6.—Governor Edwards wires Cox: "Sincere congratulations, your nomination well deserved and spells success."

James Middleton Cox was three times governor of Ohio—an honor enjoyed by only one other Ohioan, Rutherford B. Hayes.

Born on a farm, educated in the public schools, a printer's devil, a school teacher, a newspaper reporter, a private secretary to a congressman, owner, manager and proprietor of two newspapers, member of congress for three years and three times governor of his state in his record to date.

Business success paralleled his political achievements and through his own efforts Cox has amassed a fortune. Mr. Cox became the leader of the Democratic party in Ohio in 1912 when he was nominated for governor. As one who had brought radical changes in the state constitution, he took the field in its behalf. His first term as governor was devoted chiefly to forwarding the enactment of laws to put the new state constitution into effect.

But Ohio evidently was not prepared to assimilate all the new laws for Cox was defeated for re-election. But his party renominated him in 1916 and he was re-elected for a third term in 1918, being the only Democrat to win in Ohio.

Legislation for which Governor Cox is best known includes a model workmen's compensation law and a child labor law which have been extensively copied by other states. Educators of the country say the Ohio school code, enacted under Governor Cox's direction, will live as a monument to his achievements.

Mr. Cox was born in Butler county, Ohio, in 1870. He attended district school and held his first position as teacher of the school in which he took his first lessons. He spent evenings and holidays in a printing office. In a few years he received the first assignment on the editorial staff of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

After 10 years with the Enquirer, he went to Washington as a private secretary to Congress man Paul Sore of Ohio. At the close of this service, he purchased the Dayton Daily News, borrowing most of the money to pay for it. Later he purchased the Springfield Daily News. He was first elected to Congress in 1908.

He recently purchased the farm near Jacksonburg upon which he was born, and is making it into a modern farm home where he expects to live on retirement from public life. He has been twice married and has four children.

AUTO HIT BY TRAIN

Accident at Old Bennington Crossing—
No One Injured.

A Ford coupe taxi driven by August Lawrence was hit by a westbound train over the Chatham division of the Rutland railroad at the Old Bennington crossing early this afternoon. Neither the driver or his woman passenger was injured but the coupe was considerably wrecked.

The driver says that the drive wheel of the locomotive hit the coupe just as it reached the track. One wheel of the coupe was crushed, the frame broken and the car was turned completely around and when it came to a stop was pointed down the hill.

Lawrence was on his way to Old Bennington at the time of the accident.

MANCHESTER MAN IS ENTHUSIASTIC

"I Can't Say Enough For Tanlac
After What It Did For Us"
He Declares.

"Both my wife and myself have been benefited so much by Tanlac that I can't say enough for it," said Philip Pinard, 175 Hanover street, Manchester, N. H., a few days ago. Mr. Pinard is a mason and builder and well known in Manchester, having lived there for nearly fifty years.

"Why, Tanlac has fixed me up in such good shape that I feel as well as I did in my boyhood days. For the past year I had just felt miserable from loss of appetite, weak stomach and a general run-down condition. I could not eat much of anything and my food disagreed with me so that at times while at the table a feeling like a lump would come in the pit of my stomach and I would bloat up with gas and suffer such pain that I had to get up and leave. I also had a severe pain in my back, felt weak and nervous and some nights could hardly sleep at all. I invariably got up in the mornings feeling as tired as on going to bed."

"But it was only a short time after began taking Tanlac until I realized I was getting back to my old self. I have taken five bottles now and feel as
